

Tigers Love to Roam

Out in the jungle there is a great predator to which it is well known to its prey It sometimes bungles a hunt of a creature not one to moan it goes on with the day

A tigers' life is all about survival and they can smell that of a new arrival They are fighters who like to travel and grow so they can prevail

Just like humans they love a pool because they want all that's cool Just like humans they have to kill because it's their stomachs they have to fill

This cat is strong in life with its size of freight it has no say in its future but wants' what's wright
It doesn't want to fall in strive just to give in to plight it wants to stay in nature so it can show its might

