

Cats Are So Proud

Proud to be alive with a beaut of a stride it's a mate she has to sway before it's too late

After something to strive its now time to reside with not wanting affray she says bye to her mate

Her cubs born in a hive and still having to hide it must me mums' way that decides their fate

Getting taught to survive from a mum who has pride and with lots of play they will end up so great

Wanting them to thrive she has to be their guide so they can have their say for what's on their plate

With young ones to feed she goes hunting for food with a stealth of a creep she gets close to some meat

It is what they need as their meal comes her way she has a big leap and clamps down on her meat

In they come to greed as it is their day for something to reap after finding the best seat

